To whom it may concern,

I am writing to apply for the job opening for a junior developer in your company.

I am excited to apply for the opening of a junior developer at Dworo. I recently graduated from Moringa School where as a remote learner aiming to become a web developer, I created websites using technologies such as CSS, HTML5, JavaScript, Python, and TypeScript. I have also collaborated with other students under the guardianship of a technical mentor not only to learn new collaborative methodologies but also to produce projects as required.

Before joining Moringa School, I had been pursuing a bachelor's degree in Education and also aided in the creation of web applications for my fellow computer science schoolmates. Interaction with these computer science students marked the beginning of my software development curiosity and pursuit in this industry. I believe myself to be capable of learning and adapting as required, not only to gain new skills and knowledge but also to meet set objectives hence ready to learn requirements that I may not meet.

Alongside this cover letter is my resume highlighting my profile as a green but also a capable experienced software developer.

I welcome an opportunity to converse with you if you deem me right and fit for this role or any other at your company.

Yours sincerely,

Charity Mutembei.
